What Am I?

When I wake up I'm a spouse
I'm a neighbour when I leave the house
A pedestrian, walking down the street
A passenger, on a metro seat

I'm a customer when I buy the bread
A patient, in a hospital bed
A foreigner when I go abroad
And a teacher, writing on the board

At work I'm just an employee
Or just a colleague, drinking tea
I'm a subject, object, stranger, friend
Part of a demographic trend

I'm a citizen voting, a witness seeing
But most of all, a human being

Ok, children,
what sounds did
we hear on our farm
visit yesterday?

Moo!

Quack
quack!

Baah!

Get off
that fuckin'
tractor!

A cartoon illustration featuring two men and a snake. On the left, a man with a large nose and glasses sits at a desk with a book and a pen. He points towards a shelf on the right. On the right, another man with a large nose and glasses stands, looking at the shelf. On the shelf, a snake with a human-like face is coiled. The scene is set in a simple room with a desk and a shelf.

Can anyone give me a sentence with
'there'? - Sammy?

There a snake on the shelf, sir!

'Is', Sammy!
There IS a snake
on the shelf!

Ok, now where's
Europe on the map,
anyone?

A man with dark, wavy hair, wearing a tan jacket over a plaid shirt and a dark tie, is shown from the chest up. He has a surprised or questioning expression on his face. In the background, a door with the number '801' is visible. Three speech bubbles are overlaid on the image, containing text related to a classroom activity.

I: INITIATION

Can anyone
name another?

R: RESPONSE

Germany?

F: FEEDBACK

Yes, Germany!

TEACHER TALK DRILL

Let's check the answers - number one

Who can answer? Anyone?

Ok, come on now, show of hands!

What's the past of understand?

Under... Under... Understood!

Understood, yes, very good!

Who can answer number two?

Alexander, how about you?

The past of think. Sounds like taught

Goes like bought and brought and fought

Come on, Maria, take a guess!

Think..., thought - that's right, yes!

Right, ok, now number three

Anybody? Past of see?

The past of see is ... what?

Is it seed? No it's not!

Pay attention, listen Sam

This is in next week's exam

Remember, saw's the past of see

Repeat it slowly after me

S-A-W, saw!

Now number four - the past of draw

Anyone? Noone? Well, ok

I guess we've done enough today
